

Fairfield County Hauntings & Legends

Amanda . . .

1. Amanda Clearcreek High School
2. Amanda Elementary School

Delmont . . .

3. Route 22

East Rushville . . .

4. Bishop Hanby House

Lancaster . . .

5. Baldwin Run
6. Becks Knob
7. BIS House
8. Clarksburg Schoolhouse
9. County Infirmary
10. Crawfis Institute
11. East King Street Residence
12. Elmwood Cemetery
13. Forest Rose Cemetery
14. Hawk's Tavern at the Mill
15. Madison Avenue Home
16. Mickey's Bar & Grill
17. New Lexington Road
18. Pleasant Valley
19. River Valley Mall

20. Salon on Broad St.

21. Samuel Bush House
22. Spring Street Home
23. Stillhouse Hollow
24. Stonewall Cemetery
25. West Wheeling St. Home

Lithopolis . . .

26. Abandoned House
- Pickerington . . .
27. England Insurance
  28. Harmon Road
  29. Olde Parsonage
  30. Pickering-Hizey-Ackers House
  31. Ramar Acres
  32. Ricketts Schoolhouse No. 7

Pleasantville . . .

33. Apartment Bldg.
- Revenge . . .
34. Johnson Covered Bridge
- Sugar Grove . . .
35. Blue Light Ghost
  36. Rushcreek Headless Woman
  37. Sugar Grove Cemetery

Legend

-  Haunted Places
-  Stillhouse Hollow Route
-  County Boundary

Information was obtained from Ohio Exploration Society's website.
www.ohioexploration.com/paranormal/hauntings/fairfieldcounty/
 Some locations were not added due to lack of information.

Stillhouse Hollow – This story dates back to the 1850s when a man named John Ornsdorf disappeared. His horse arrived at his home in Lancaster with his blood and pieces of his body on it. A search party traced the blood trail to a man's house named Crowley. Upon inspecting Crowley's home, neither Crowley nor Ornsdorf were anywhere to be found. The search party did report finding a dead yearling calf in a back room and the smell of sulfur was strong. Ever since, sightings of a human-like calf have been reported. There were several reports of the creature jumping onto the back of the rider's horse and riding along. These sightings occurred primarily between the years 1850 and 1880 when Foglesong Road closed. Since the closure, the hauntings seem to have subdued, but current day Stringtown Road from Coonpath Road south to State Route 37 roughly follows the old road.